Survey Methods

Results for this survey are based on telephone interviews conducted at Centre College in Danville, Kentucky on October 18-23, 2016, with a random sample of 710 adults, aged 18 and older, living in the lower 48 U.S. states (not including Alaska and Hawaii).

This survey sampled both landline and cellphone respondents. 38.1% of total respondents were landline numbers while 61.9% of total respondents were cellphone numbers. Landline and cellphone numbers were selected using random-digit-dial methods.

For results based on the total sample of national adults, the margin of sampling error is $\pm 3.7\%$ percentage points at the 95% confidence level. All other margins of error as shown.

All respondents were asked questions concerning basic demographics, and the entire sample was weighted to reflect national Census figures for age and race.

In all, 31% of sample respondents identify as Democrats, 31.4% identify as Republican, 30.6% identify as Independents, with 6.1% identifying as no/other party. Also, 46.5% identify as Democrats or Independent-lean-Democrats and 47% identify as Republicans or Independent-lean Republicans.
